Hi Folks

Steven Hairfield invited me to be a guest on his radio show earlier this year and he impressed me with his comments and predictions. So I have asked him to share some of his information with you.

As I write this am still on the road and haven't read what he has written, but if it is anything like our interview on his show you will find it interesting.

WISHING YOU LOTS OF GOOD STUFF,
Raymon

2012 Something to Consider

Steven L. Hairfield, Ph.D.

Part I

Before we begin this article I would like to pose several questions that I would like to ask you to consider for a moment. Does it appear to you that our natural world is going through an upheaval? When have you seen all of the global flooding that we have seen just this year? When have you seen the number tornados' that have been occurring over the past few years and in places where they do not usually occur? When have we seen the geologic activity and the magnitude that we now have seen? How long has it been since we have had three hurricanes going on at the same time? Does it seem that people are acting strange? Are we not seeing deception in most if not all directions? Are you waking up in the early hours of the morning? Do you feel as though something is about to occur? Do you sense that time is speeding up? If you are seeing all of these and much more then I feel that this article is well worth reading. Why is all of this occurring now? Is 2012 really true? What were the Maya attempting to tell us?

The short idea here is this; all of life is energy first which has created our physical reality and the energy streams have not only begun to shift but they are beginning to speed up as they intensify. As these streams shift so do our lives as individuals and as a world. We are now in a period of changing times and things appear to be very unsettled at the present and it is real and is going to increase. They will settle but we have quite a journey in front of us this is for certain. Today are we looking at global warming or is it global warning? The field of the sciences cannot yet agree. If it is global warming why did we just experience 100 year snow falls on the east coast? How does warming and snowfall actually fit together? They do not! It is the shifting energy fields but just because we do not see them that does not mean that they are not there. One could easily say at the moment the world and we individuals are going through a purging of sorts. It is a way of the universe to remove our dark energies so to speak. What are dark energies? They are things such as greed, anger, hatred, and deceit and these are just a few. For them to be removed they must first come to the surface to be seen then we have a choice release it or hold onto it and this is why we are seeing things such as Wall St., the government and these are just a few which are too numerous to list in this article. Truth is attempting to rise to the surface within each individual and all organizations of this world.

One could easily say that we are going through one of the greatest leaps of human evolution that we may see in our modern times. What we are seeing is a birth process for all of life simply because the energy streams are shifting in how they operate and as they do so do we. Do you realize that we the human are a living breathing, thinking electro magnetic field and it is because of this that this coming shift will have the greatest impact on us. Why would that be? Simply because we are the only living thing that has the ability to realize what we are thinking no other living thing has that gift. It is our minds that are going to shift in how we think and in how we live especially as these streams move into greater intensity over the coming months and years. It is going to appear to all that the world has lost its mind and in a sense it will. This leap that we are well into is all about awakening us to our higher divine nature and if we cannot shift into that nature then we simply may not be here. As the energy increases in vibration and intensity so do we to match it remember we are energy first and physical second. Today one could state that we are moving into the intense phase and because of this the one thing that is shared by me is to be very aware of what you are tempted by. Why would we need to do that? Because you will carry it out especially if it has anything to do with the darker side of the human being, it must come to the surface. An ancient prophecy states this "What ever is hidden shall be made known" and this is what we are witnessing from all of human kind. What have we become?

When we look around us today we see things in the natural world that defy our comprehension, such as Haiti, the earth quake, the three hurricane's in the Atlantic at the same time or even a hundred year snow fall. What we may not realize is that every time our comprehension is defied it expands at the same time. This is the natural world's way of expanding our minds as we move into whole brain function. Today we rely primarily on left brain logic. What will you do when one morning you awaken and logic does not function in the manner in which we are accustomed? What will you do when you awaken to a different reality? These are all things in which we are all going to experience this will occur simply because as the energetic shift takes place so do our mental hemisphere's in other words from left to right. This is why Mother Nature is doing what she is doing in our world, expanding our minds and working to prepare us for the coming times. This is a process that has occurred 171 times according to geophysics and we are in the 172 time of this occurrence. This is something that no one is going to be able to avoid as we are all human and all of life is going through this shift of paradigms.

Every one when we think of 2012 we think of the date December 23 as the most significant and it may well be but I have always seen October's as the one with the impact. If we look back over the last few years October has had huge impacts on our world and lives as this month is where the shifts actually begin to happen especially in the later part of the month around the 28th and especially the 28th of next year and the year after 2012 this is where greater upheavals are going to appear. Why, one might inquire this is hard to explain so to avoid confusion it is the mid point between the fall and winter equinox where the pressures are greater on our world. The first time I saw this I was at the tender age of 8 to 9 years old which created a life of searching for what all of this meant. This led me to studying ancient prophecy from the Maya, the Bible, Merlin prophecies and the Oracle of Delphi, through Nostradamus and Edgar Cayce and a myriad of others like the Hopi. These all have given me the understanding that I have today as in what is actually going on. I am going to be offering this in basically three parts to give you all the understanding of what is to come and it is going to be a difficult and arduous journey in which we all face. I will explain how the shift is going to progress and what is actually going on and to where it is going to take us willing or not we are awakening to our Divine nature and our connectedness to all things including each other so stay tuned.

December 2010

Howdy Folks,

We have been sending out a newsletter about 4 times unless we have something to say, and this fall we have had more to say so you get an extra one.

I ask in my classes, “How many of you have noticed that the sun neither rises nor sets where it always has?”

About one fifth of the audience raises their hands. In some areas the Hertz frequency is getting higher than was predicted and having some serious effects on people and business.

Steven and I have similar information and come to similar conclusions but he has more details than I do and explains it better.

In the current video of the month from the Raymon Grace Foundation, I explained why people are going crazy. Have already received feedback of how this information has helped someone who was having suicidal thoughts.

A few months ago, we produced a video called ‘Energetic Epidemics’ which listed the things I had found affecting many people and also included a way to counteract the negative effects of these things.

We have made 24 films for the Raymon Grace Foundation and covered a lot of subjects. November will be our last video of the month until we feel there is more information to present to our subscribers. For those of you who missed them, they are still available at www.raymongracefoundation.org and I will have some available at my class locations.

In the past eleven years that I have been measuring energy, it has risen over 500%. With each rise of energy our abilities for positive thought and action are increased. This is GOOD news.

To sum it up, when the sun no longer rises and sets where it has for many generations, should be ample evidence that we are living in interesting times. Let’s make the most of it. We are the ones we have been waiting for.

Last month I asked my friend Steven Hairfield to write the newsletter since I was on the road most of the time. He wrote it in 3 parts and has just finished the second part. You would probably rather have the information now than wait until time for the next regular newsletter so here it is.

2012 - Something to Consider
The Geo-Physical Impact
Part II
by Steven L. Hairfield, Ph.D.

Has any one noticed that the sun has changed colors? Has any one also noticed that it is much brighter outside? Does the sun influence the energy streams of not only the planet but the human as well? Yes it does and we shall see the impact as you read these pages and I do hope that everyone takes the time to review them and consider the possibilities of what's to come. To begin this segment let us first look into history to help in the understanding of what we may see and experience as we get ever closer to the mystical date of December 23, 2012. I recall back in the fourth grade during a geography class that it looked as though all of the continents fit together like a puzzle and when I voiced this the teacher told me essentially that I was crazy that this was simply not possible. Many years back, of course, geologists confirmed this idea and the name Pangaea was given it, one land mass. Think about that for a moment, one single massive island or continent. Now consider the magnitude of the upheaval that it must have taken for land the size of that mass to be moved apart. The theory is that this happened all at once! In one mass movement this massive island was rent asunder in one swift motion.

Ancient prophecy tells us that the lands and the islands will be moved from their places in the twinkling of an eye and so it would seem. If we think back about the huge earthquake that hit the island of Sumatra, that would be small by comparison to that one huge mass of land. This quake, a 9.2, moved that island, Sumatra, by slightly over 100 yards, so much so that the undersea bed had to be remapped by the U.S. Navy. Now look back at Pangaea and what that must have been like to create the separate continents we have today. That must have been a staggering event in proportion. Are we going to witness something of this magnitude once more? That remains to be seen but I shall offer what I have seen in visions and have subsequently studied over the years. Have you ever viewed the futuristic maps of the world? There are differences in them yet they are all similar in what they portray.

How could something such as these occur and so quickly? I will attempt to cover that later on in this the second part of the whole story. There is ample evidence to back up what is being shared with you. We shall attempt to offer as much as possible in the way of that evidence as we make this journey of 2012 and the material/physical world as we view it today. Geophysical science has been teaching us of a global ice age but I do not sense that this is the case at all. Allow me to share with you as to why this may not be the case, a global ice age. We know that the poles have shifted 171 times in the history of the world that was shared with you in part I of this piece. Envision this idea that if the poles have moved that number of times it is conceivable that the Arctic and the Antarctic have also taken up different positions on the globe. I actually took a map of the world and randomly placed 171 stick pins on the map and ironically when I was done they very literally were on every continent and country in the world. The reason science says that there was a global ice age is because of glacial activity located on every continent. When the poles shift as they are at the present they take up brand new positions and that area now becomes covered with snow and ice thus the glacial activity in so many different parts of the world. This is the cycle of mother earth.

Here is an amazing piece of evidence that is well worth looking into. Consider this; are you familiar with the "Barzakoff" Mammoth? If not look it up on the net keeping in mind that I may have inadvertently spelled it incorrectly for it has been many years since I read about this staggering find. Why is this so important? I think it makes two points one is how fast the movement occurs and the second is that the land may have moved. Allow me to share this with you. Many years ago in Northern Siberia a gentleman was fishing in a large stream some days after a very heavy downpour of rain. While he was fishing very literally this mammoth went floating by him encased completely in ice, frozen solid. It also happens that this man was a scientist and he notified the authorities of what he saw. The mammoth was located, loaded onto a very large truck and was taken to a lab for studies. Needless to say they were shocked at what they had found after it had slowly been thawed. The first thing that they realized was that it had been flash frozen or that it had happened at a very high rate of speed. What they found in its intestine were undigested buttercups along with the same find in its mouth. They surmised that it became frozen while it was still eating and had not finished its meal and not digested it as well.

Why is this so important? That is simple mammoths like today's modern elephants are vegetarian they only ate vegetation and nothing more. So why would a vegetarian animal be in an arctic zone? They weren't originally as the poles shifted or moved to their location. I know we always see mammoths portrayed in snow but that is not where they lived and is a misconception. Where there is a lot of snow there is no vegetation so they would not be located in an Arctic region yet this one was. Also keep in mind that a mammoth like today's version is warm blooded not cold. The curious thing though is the speed in which the area where this mammoth was found at one point was not arctic and in a moment it all changed! The physical poles simply relocated themselves to the position in which the mammoth was located it did not travel into this zone it came to him. This also seems to support the idea that a global ice age has never been and never will be either our poles simply move. Another thing to consider is the Sahara Desert. Did you know that at one point it was a lush and fertile land that was heavy in vegetation? So what happened there could this also be a result of a pole shift?

Allow me now to share some rather startling revelations on how all of this occurs through what I have seen in visions and studied as well. When we look into the field of geophysics and then combine them with prophecy they reveal a rather interesting picture for us to look upon. The first thing that must take place is our shifting energy streams as they continue to increase in intensity and once they reach between 113 – 115 hertz all things will begin the final phase of their shift into a new paradigm. Raymon Grace has informed me on many occasions that areas like Washington D.C. are reaching 112 hertz as I am writing this and as it reaches these levels the rate of suicide and murder appear to increase. This actually is occurring in pockets all over the world right this very moment. It appears we are becoming a more violent world as we shed these negative energies that we have within us. It is also not limited to urban sprawl because it is occurring even out in the countryside or in rural areas of the globe as well. It is not the pockets so much as it is when this level reaches every single person and place on our planet this then is the final trigger which sets the rest of the events in motion.

Here is the theory that metaphysics and prophecy postulate for us to understand. When we achieve a consistent hertz level of 113 – 115 and it holds there we reach what has come to be known as zero point. What exactly zero point? We have gone through a period that we could say is known as linear time or so we thought. Einstein postulated a theory in that time was not linear that it was an arc and we know because of geometry that an arc is any portion of a circle or cycle. We have gone from the idea of linear time into what is now known as cyclic time. Have you ever wondered why things seem to be cycling back to you whether it is events or people coming back into your life, cyclic time is the reason? If time is a circle then this now implies that time in a sense is going to run into itself or we reach what is known as zero point or a period of no time. I have read in many prophecies which includes the Biblical texts that we shall overcome death and when we hit no time that would make sense. I will share more on this in the next and final segment of this work.

It was shared with you in part one that we the human are much like a battery with a positive and a negative polarity. Left brain is the positive pole and right brain is a negative pole and it may be that both of these shift dominance in how we use our minds. This is where we go from left brain dominant to right brain or even a mixture of both, or whole mind. To the extent of how it will really affect us shall remain to be seen more on this also in the final segment. Once we achieve zero point what occurs to the earth? What is about to be shared with you was first shared by me in February 2006 while I was being interviewed on Coast to Coast with George Noorey and I will share it with you here and also offer supportive information on it. I think that what is about to be offered is going to be quite the stretch for most minds yet if you follow all of this it does make sense. So here we go! Once we achieve that mystical hertz level then earth is going to slow its rotation until it comes to a complete halt once this occurs she is going to roll and twist to the new position that the poles will take up. When she rolls it is to place the North Pole where it is supposed to be and the same for the South Pole but they will be located over different land masses. North always remains north or at the top of the earth as it sits today. I realize this sounds really out there but consider the following.

First of all, as suggested, this is not the first occurrence of this event being portrayed in these words. When I originally talked of this on Coast to Coast many emails were received as you may imagine but two of them were very intriguing because they came to me from two physicists. They shared with me that they could mathematically prove the theory of earth movement and that it indeed had occurred before. To further support this postulation let us look into prophecy. When Edgar Cayce was asked why he chose to move his family to Virginia Beach his answer was simple. He said that the first reason was because it was one of the safest places and that secondly this area would become sub-tropical. I was raised in Virginia and can tell you that today it is not even tropical. Sub-tropical means below the equator this implies that the earth will indeed roll and twist from its current position. Did you know that this is occurring already note the positions of the sunrise and the sun sets they are in different locations. We also see these implications in the Book of Ezekiel in the Old Testament and in the Book of Mark it was shared with you that the lands and the islands would be moved from their places. We find these same ideas posed in many of the ancient prophecies that the earth will change her position. The oldest known map of the world even shows an island under what is known as present day Antarctica. One has to ask themselves how they would have known that in times long ago. There is only one way and that is at the time of its drawing it was not under ice and snow as it is at present. Modern day satellite imagery verifies the island's existence that it is indeed there.

There is one more piece of supportive information and this one comes out of the Hopi traditions in the legend of the two suns. What might this mean? Here is another point to wrap your minds around. In their legend, the Hopi, they speak of the idea that on one day the sun rose in the west and set in the east and a few days later it rose in the east and set in the west as it does to this very day. This is not as absurd as one may think simply because if the polarity does indeed shift then it would stand to reason that our world would indeed rotate in a different direction simply because the polarities have reversed themselves. Reality must match the new polarities. This process as I understand it is going to take three days one day for it to slow, then one day stopped where the roll will occur and on the third day earth will begin her rotation in the opposite direction. Sound impossible? Then consider these pieces of information.

How does this occur? Here are several ideas to which I may only postulate. Did you know that a few years back science realized that earth at the equator was two inches wider and that she is more round now than egg shaped? This appears to be creating drag and is working to slow the rotation. Global warming what effect will this have? Drag in a simple word. The Christ stated that "in that time the ground will be so hot that we will not be able to walk on it with our bare feet." Was He telling us of this time in our world? All of this has been foretold in times past. In the book of Joshua it states that the sun stood still for about a day and in the Maya texts they recorded a period of darkness that also lasted for about a day as well. These two civilizations are on opposite sides of the world so that would make sense as well. Now here is something else to consider gravity. No gravity is not a function of rotation it is the rotation that allows us to move around, to stand and to walk. Ancient prophecy tells us that we will become so heavy that we will not be able to get off of the floor or to even stand! Also in many places it is written that there shall be three days of darkness even Revelation tells us this. What the media has done is to portray this as war and death and destruction yet this may not be the case. In the realm of psychology they use the idea of darkness as insanity so now it would appear that for a short span of time we will in a sense be in a mental darkness as our minds adjust to the new energy streams and thought process. I mean going from primary left brain function to right brain is going to be somewhat staggering in the way that we think today.

Here is another point to consider as the earth has been rotating in the direction that it has for a long period of time. Once she begins to rotate in the new direction you can imagine the stress that this is going to place on the earth's plates and it is going to cause them to move and possibly at a high rate of speed. This will have a very large impact on tectonics and quite possibly extremely large earthquakes. Remember that the Richter scale is open ended and once these all have occurred things shall begin to settle in the new paradigm and to a new way of living. By the way there is also another theory out there and this one involves our technology. Will they operate in the same manner? This is highly doubtful simply because the polarities have changed which would imply the same would occur in the way our electricity operates. What if it flows in the opposite direction as well? This is simply another point to consider as we have grown so accustomed to our technological advances.

There are a few things to take into consideration that would be strongly advised. Keep your eyes on the shifting weather patterns as this shall continue to increase over the days and months and become more severe and intense in their activities. The second thing is the geologic activity this shall also continue to increase in frequency and in magnitude. The third thing of course is human behavior as we are continuing to be stretched by these shifting fields especially in our behavior patterns and comprehension. As these things continue to increase they are signs simply of the coming changes in the way that we live in our world today. Keep this in mind after all of these words have been put before you and that is this do not have fear or become fearful as this is one of those dark energies that we must free ourselves from. You will find out why in the final segment of this series for it is going to be magnificent at the result and I am sure that most people would love to have this as their experience, the realization of perfection in life which is a thing to cherish. The pangs of birth are upon us and a new world shall be born. More to come soon in part III the new paradigm of living and life!

Have you seen the documentary 'Metaphysia 2012'? It is one person's journey on 2012 visit my site to see the trailer, amazing.

Steven will be conducting a rare weekend retreat the last weekend of January, 2011, in Longview Texas. Don't miss this wonderful opportunity to spend time with An American Monk.... for details and to register visit www.TheLoveThatYouAre.com/steven Please forward this message to anyone you think would be interested.

We appreciate you!

Part III is below

Howdy Folks,

THANK YOU for your response to the Raymon Grace Foundation DVDs. It seems to work better for all of us to make physical DVDs available on www.raymongracefoundation.org rather than offering them as a monthly video. This way you can play them as much as you want for a long as you want.

We will likely have some more later when we feel there is more information to offer.

Have considered limiting the number of classes next year as this was the busiest year ever. Will see how many invitations are received and then make decisions on which ones will reach the most people.

I appreciate the invitations from you folks in other countries, but stopped flying 5 years ago and until conditions improve in airports will not fly again. However, if you still fly, you are welcome to come to a class in the U.S.--OR maybe I can visit you on the internet if I can get the act together.

Would like to remind you of a couple of things that is affecting the energy of most people. Be sure to balance your polarity each day as it affects dowsing accuracy. Mass consciousness is the combined thoughts of humans and it is worse than ever. This may be because of all the anger, fear and anxiety in the world. Be sure to neutralize the negative effect of it on you and your family. I haven't found a way to make these things permanent any more than I have found a way to take a bath that will last a year or more.

As you know, Dr. Steven Hairfield agreed to write the newsletter for me in September as I was on the road. He wrote a long one and put it in 3 parts. Have just received part 3 and am sending it out now rather than wait until the time that we normally send it out.

Dr. Hairfield has done predictions for the coming year since 2001 and had a 75% accuracy rate until 2010, and this year he has had a 90% accuracy rate. Listen on Dec 29th for prediction for 2011. Check his website for links to the shows.

In spite of the current political correctness in this country-----

I would like to THANK YOU for your friendship this year--- and for all of you who celebrate Christmas, may it be the best one ever. For all of you who don't, may you enjoy whatever you celebrate.

I APPRECIATE YOU!!!

2012 Something to Consider
The Human Impact
Part III

This is the third and final part of my series on the idea of 2012 and the Mayan Prophecies. In this section we are going to cover the impact on the human experience. We shall cover it from a physical perspective first and then the impact on our minds and being. Then in how we will operate along with our interactions with each other and life. Before we begin this final leg of the journey I would like to share this with you. As shared earlier in section one on the second Tuesday of 2009 it was shared with you that the sun changed colors from yellow to neon white. Have you noticed yet that it is even brighter when you are outside? I was standing out in front of my office yesterday and thought to myself wow it is really bright today. That day was Tuesday the 19th of October the third Tuesday of the month one year later and today Wednesday it is just as bright and very intense. My sense tells me that when this new energy reaches our planet it is going to raise the hertz level once more to a more intense level that we have not seen as of yet. One could say that it is the final flush to work on removing our negative energies which we have built up for millennia now. It will have its impact that is for certain especially in the arena of human behavior. Simply watch humanity as a whole as we may become more violent but I hope not. It has been shared with you all along that when we achieve a hertz level of between 113 – 115 hertz then the dynamics of our world are in their final stages for the shift of the ages. So let us begin to look into the impact on us the human and view our journey that is still to come.

I would also suggest that we all keep our eyes on the natural world and Mother Nature she will become more intense. She is going to continue to influence us in so many ways as she like us begins to take up her new positions on our world. These are just the signs to be aware of as we begin our final phase of expansion more on this in a few moments. I have always had one huge question in my mind. Are we the ones doing the influencing or is it the natural world. Many years back I was walking on the shores of Lake Tahoe, a beautiful place, and I distinctly heard these words as clear as if there were another human walking with me. It said Steven the number is now correct! I asked what does this mean and the response was you shall see as time continues to move forward. If the theory of the 100 monkeys is correct then this theory may swing in more than one direction. What I mean! by this is that if the world becomes filled with negativity, greed and all of the baser forms of the human experience then would we not all be affected? If we were to move into the higher paradigms would we not all still be affected? This is why it is shared that it may swing one way or another. In reflection while looking back on that day I feel that I now understand what is meant.

Allow me to share a quote from a wonderful book entitled 'Thinking and Destiny' by Harold Percival written in 1946. He states it this way and I will offer a literal quote and then will offer my insights. "If there comes a time when the power of the thoughts of the vicious so preponderates as to make any recovery hopeless, then an Intelligence lets a fire god or a water god give to the race what its thoughts have called for. Then follows the destruction of the race by water or volcanic action: the crust of the earth shakes and opens, flames pour forth, and the earth crust sinks while the waters sweep over the land." He adds this idea as well "That is what happens when the people of a country or of the world determine by their thoughts and acts that they will not live by law and order; that they will use force against law and justice; or that they will give reign to the senses." Are our world and the inhabitants not showing all of these tendencies today? You see that was the message that I think I received from the universe that day when I was told that the number was now correct. I sense that it wanted me to realize that we had reached a tipping point in negativity and baser forms of living. Do we live naturally in our world? Do we honor our world or each other? Do we lift people or do we pull them down? All very important questions to ask oneself, where do you stand? This is the question that is exposing people to what we have become gifted us by the universe. Does it hear us or is it sensing the vibrations that we as human emanate?

At the risk of sounding judgmental we have for the most part allowed our egos to expand to the point where it is now almost in complete control of us and it has driven us totally into our sense body. Meaning material and physical seems to be the most important thing there is. It has even driven us away from being centered to becoming self-centered and self-serving in today's world for most humans. Who lifts people today? Who shares in the higher divine character that we all have, it would appear to be very few? Yes we are individual points of expression yet at the same time we are indeed a collective in consciousness? Can this consciousness pull us down? Yes but it can also lift us which is what divine expression is attempting to get us to realize and do. This will protect you because only the divine nature is going to be able to handle the higher hertz levels. How do I know this? That is actually simple because there is a passage in Revelation that says it all. I collect Bibles as a hobby and it is amazing to me the difference in wording in the older ones verses the newer versions and one passage in particular. In the newer versions it says this "do not harm those that have the seal of God on their foreheads" the older versions state in this manner "do not harm those that have the seal of God in their foreheads". There is a world of difference between them as one implies an external idea and the other an internal idea known as the intuitive sense to which we all have yet most do not use this wonderful divine tool.

You see it is my sense when looking back during my walk at Lake Tahoe the message was that we as a world had reached the lowest point that we could due to the dominance of the ego. In a sense we have basically walked almost completely away from our soul our true nature. We no longer truly work together but when we do it is amazing at what we are capable. So we are the trigger that lets the universe know that it is time for another shift so to speak. I will in the next several paragraphs attempt the cycles and shifts that we humans experience with life and have for millennia and it has purpose. It is not known whether you accept the idea of reincarnation or not but for myself I know that it is real because while studying in the Far East I experienced all of my lives and saw them as they unfolded before my eyes, our soul is eternal and lives life after life. Each of us have experienced being female and male. The idea is that as female we learn about sensitivity and as male we learn of physical nature and in a sense it is to teach the balance between these two eternal energies. Masculine and feminine energies are universal truths meaning they apply in all things so to balance these energy streams we must experience them in the flesh so that we may grow and reach our own divine nature. Yet we do not so nature steps in and nudges us!

To achieve this divine state we simply become polarized. This simply means that the masculine and feminine energies become unified within us as one operating principle. Thus reincarnation is how this is accomplished after all the best way to know another is to become them. Ironically we have always been able to become polarized at anytime yet it goes, for the most part, unknown. In the Gospel of Thomas from the Nag Hammadi it states this for us "When you make the two into one you may say mountain move from here to there and it will be given you". Such power we have available to us by simply becoming one operating principle not just masculine or simply feminine physically speaking. Before I continue with this idea it was stated above that the masculine and feminine are universal principles. Here are few examples of what is being suggested; the Sun is masculine while the moon is feminine, water is feminine while land is its opposite. Night is feminine while daylight is masculine, soul is feminine and form is also its opposite. This idea is infinite and is the sheer power of creation itself, there is more on this below. I shall not share the meaning of all the feminine and masculine ideas, as it would be quite lengthy to do so. All of life may be compared to the swing of a pendulum there are high points and low points in this swinging action. A pendulum will swing left to right and as it returns toward the opposite direction it achieves a low point. One could easily state that the same is true when it comes to life. We have just left the lowest point that human may reach steeped in the physical ego mindset that we are today. We think that material reality and physical form is the only thing that there is, no there is so much more to reality than this.

Look at it from this perspective when the pendulum begins to move towards the left and reaches the highest point in its swing logic comes into play, equating this analogy to mind. Then as it begins its downward swing we become more steeped in our logical mind set. This now brings the ego into play while physical and material reality become dominant at the same time, the outer world now has more influence upon us. This now becomes a world filled with masculine energy. Could this be why male is so dominant in our societies today? After the swing achieves its lowest point it begins to lift to the right side of the swing and as it climbs right brain or creative intelligence rises in dominance. We are able to view this effect in the way that our ancestors wrote in texts such as the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Vedas, Nag Hammadi, the Bible, and the Mayan texts they all wrote in metaphor meaning right brain and not literalistic as we do today. This is the same exact idea of reincarnation to create a balanced divine human. And once more we see the very same cycle as it continues until we come to realize the unification of the two sides or polarities in all things. By so doing oneness through the divine is achieved within us and outside us as well the death of separation is achieved.

I realized something many years ago that is felt extremely important for all of us to come to understand as it bears out the very cycles being discussed. Have you seen these letters before “YHWH”? We have viewed it as an ancient name and have turned it into the likes of “Yehweh”, Jehovah, and even God. How may this be done when there are no vowels involved? What if it is a mathematical equation or better still a sacred geometrical equation for the creation of life? Allow me to share with you something that was given me one day while in a deep state of reflection. It was shown to me this idea “Y” is a representation of soul, feminine, “H” represents consciousness, mind and is masculine. “W” represents the sense body or the emotions, feminine and the last “H” is the end result or the body, physical form in all things and represents masculine. Once we put them all together we have life as each one is subtle until the last which makes it obvious. Why is this so important to understand? It is the same idea of how the energies are being affected by the higher hertz levels and the cycles of life that were presented above.

During the last shift of our polarities the letters were set in different positions and operate in this manner today “HHWY”. That now implies our body and mind are the most dominant to us and we lost our true and natural states as divine human. It also is showing us why the masculine energy is forceful today as well it is leading the way. How do we know simple because logic and material physical life are so significant today? We have very strong egos and most of us live in that ego which has led us to being self-centered. This is the lowest point in the swing of the pendulum. During this next shift, occurring at this very moment, these geometric symbols are going to be placed in different positions once more. It is occurring to bring us back to the divine path where soul becomes the most important of all once again. Its purpose once more is the creation of a balanced way of living via soul recognition. One could state that these energies are combining the two, soul and form, as one living entity. Ironically we are anyway yet it goes unrealized by us today. I speak of this on a deeper level in one of my books entitled “A Metaphysical Interpretation of the Bible” where I offer greater detail.

What effect does the rising hertz levels have to do with the magnetic fields? They have a direct impact on all of life and in every aspect. If we switch the polarities then it impacts the energy streams that we call life which includes the magnetic fields. In a sense they are the magnetic fields of life. What are the influences of magnetic field changes upon us first in a physical context? After all, we are electromagnetic beings as was shared with you in part one. These changes are affecting us at the present moment and are going to continue to expand and will increase in speed. So let us first look at our physical functionality. Dr. Valerie Hunt has developed a specially constructed room in which she can change these magnetic fields. In her book, ‘Infinite Mind’, she reports that when “the magnetism was decreased, gross in-coordination occurred. The entire neurological integrating mechanism was thrown off. Subjects could not balance their bodies; they had difficulty touching finger to nose or performing simple coordinated movements. They lost all kinesthetic movements.” Of course, Dr. Hunt was creating the change quickly and the real shift happens over longer periods of time. While this is true to a point when we reach the tipping point it also will occur rapidly according to projections. When this occurs it is my hope that you are not driving a car, imagine all those vehicles and what they will be doing. It is also my hope that you are not in an aircraft either for the very same reason because according to Dr. Hunt we will certainly not be able to control our physical self, let alone a moving vehicle. Please consider this for a few moments. Could this be why in the book of Revelation states that there will be a period of three days of darkness? What if the three days of darkness is simply the loss of all kinesthetic awareness in the human mind body relationship?

Let us look at the idea for a moment on the concept of these three days of darkness from the mental impact now that we have examined the physical implications. Have you heard of Jill Bolte Taylor? If not in brief she is a Neuroscientist that suffered a stroke and lost the total use of her left brain for many years, eight for her to completely recover. One day it came back on and she recalls her total experiences on the idea of oneness, our connectedness to life and to each other. She also talks of our inner hidden divine nature that is attempting to work itself to the surface. She travels the world today and talks with the scientific community about her experiences. One of which during this darkness she had difficulty connecting to the outside world. She was aware of it but could not communicate and was unable to function in a physical sense until she reawakened. Do an internet! search on her and listen to the 18 minute interview on TED and it will give you a thumbnail sketch of what we are all going to experience on a mass scale, the entire world. What she portrays is somewhat of what our experience is going to be. But ours will be for a shorter period of time. How short global experience is going to be remains to be seen but if we take ancient prophecy into consideration the guesstimate would be for three days. My sense suggests that this will vary between humans and their personal accomplishment on self discovery which we could be doing now. There are many today that are and they are beginning to operate more from right brain than through left. It is these which will have the shortest process to go through and the rest who are not used to right brain function will have more difficulty; Jill Bolte Taylor is a simple example. To me she is the messenger for us all to hear.

So the question is what is going to be the best way for us to be able to work with the new and coming dynamics? If you have viewed Jill's short interview you will have an idea and if you have not please I suggest that you do. There are things that one may begin working with today in preparation for these coming times and she talks of them. Firstly let me say focus is of great importance practice focusing on the moment that you are in, there is no future there is no past there is only now the present is all we have. Get used to doing this be present. Something that I teach people is to practice keeping your mind and thoughts always behind your eyes learn to not allow the mind to drift. If it does that is left brain function taking you into the future or returning you to your past. Remember that we are going to right brain dominant for a period then it moves into whole brain. So the point is to begin to awaken more usage of the right side of mind; this side has no logic to it. The right brain is the creative side to mind, the sensitive side of being. Begin practicing things such as being peaceful and compassionate with yourself and all of life. Do the best that you are able in being unbothered by pettiness as an example because this is one thing that is going to be released for the coming times. Release your anger and the negative sides to your view of life the world and people after all that is just simply judgment and nothing less.

If you diligently begin to practice these ideas your life will become easier and more fluid while at the same time removing all forms of negativity. It shall also begin to prepare you for the coming times. Place all of your intention and focus on the higher internal divine nature in which we all have available to us. Life is and always has been a choice between living in loving peace through our divine being or living in our small ego based self. Tame the ego and have it work with you but do not work for it as it enslaves us. Learn to use more of your right side of brain as suggested here are some of the attributes that we have that will draw on the use of this part of mind. Be gentle and speak gently to your self and others, offer humility, open your heart to the true idea of love. Do not judge you or others and always begin with you first. Once this is implemented within you, then it is easier to share it with others because it will be genuine which is also key in this shift to come. Be your authentic self not what others want you to be it is important to stand in the truth of divine being. Do not fear nor panic as things intensify which is why working on a peaceful nature is so important to begin now until it becomes you.

Work toward the higher divine self in all things that you do, think, feel and say until it becomes who you are. Connect to the idea of oneness within and with all people in which you encounter because this is the world to come. The world after all things are settled will be a place where all of us are going to desire to live in because there will be a perfect blend of the divine and form. Imagine a world where there is no such thing as disease nor stress a place where the human is the most important idea. A world where there is no such thing as crime, war, laws or governments. Envision a world of no division in any way where only wholeness is realized, a world where weapons, war or death is not necessary and becomes long forgotten. Imagine a world where there is only peace. Envision a world where no life is required to be taken not even for food. It will be a world of instant manifestation a place where we all have only what we may use or require. This indeed would be a magnificent place to live, no evil ,no darkness, living as infinite humans in God consciousness. We will be living the gift of the universe being granted the tree of infinite knowledge.
